DR. MICHAEL BRIGLIA
Director of Men's Athletics

Glassboro State College promotes a varied program of intercollegiate athletics under the direction of the health and physical education staff. These programs are sponsored by the Men's Athletic Association (MAA), Women's Athletic and Recreation Association (WARA) and the Bureau of Athletics. Primary funding comes from Student Government funds.

Men's intercollegiate affiliations are with the NCAA, the East Coast Athletic Conference (ECAC) and the New Jersey State College Conference. Women's affiliations have been with the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) and are now woth the NCAA as well. The women will continue to follow AIAW rules and by-laws over the next year as they switch to the NCAA.

Along with 22 intercollegiate sports, the college also sponsors a club-level ice hockey team. In addition, intramural sports are planned for students not participating in varsity athletics.

Intramural sports provide a form of physical activity without the intensified training and high degree of skill necessary for the varsity programs.

A varied seasonal program under the directorship of staff members with the assistance of student majors in health and physical education, is provided. All of the facilities of the athletic and recreational programs are utilized in the intramural programs.

Glassboro State College recognizes its responsibility to provide a wide range of physical education programs to ensure the opportunity for all to engage in meaningful physical activity.

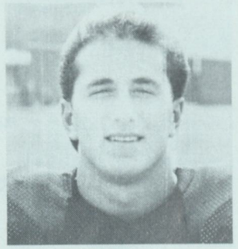
JEFF BEEBE



BRUCE LEWANDOWSKI

Quarterback

As the starting quarterback on the junior varsity squad two years ago, Beebe, a 6-1, 200 pound senior from Millville, showed plenty of potential as a signal-caller before a serious knee injury sidelined him for his junior year. "Jeff has a good arm and a good head for football," says coach Kershner. "If his leg holds up, he could be a great plus at the quarterback position for us."

BRUCE LEWANDOWSKI
Running Back

Last season's MVP, Lewandowski boosted the Profs' offense with his superb all-around talents. The Beachwood native transferred to GSC last year, and didn't get a chance to start until midway through the season. He then averaged over 100 yards rushing per game over the final six games. At 6-0, 210, he can run over or around players. "Bruce showed us last season that he can run, pass or catch the ball," says coach Kershner. "He should be one of the top backs in the area and a key to our offense."

JUSTIN FRANK
Defensive Lineman

A transfer student, the 5'7", 235 pound senior from Collingswood has impressed the Profs' coaches with his strength and quickness. "Justin has very good movement, and he looks like he will be able to help us quite a bit at middle guard," says coach Kershner. "He'll see a lot of action."

TIM HERSHEY
Linebacker

Hailing from nearby Williamstown, Hershey is an aggressive ballplayer who has the capability of playing both linebacker and defensive end for the Profs. At 6-0, 210 pounds, Tim has impressed the coaching staff with his power and mobility. "Tim is a versatile defensive player," coach Kershner reports. "We're expecting Tim to play a major role in this year's defense."

ERNIE D'AMBROSIO
Offensive Lineman

With depth a problem on the offensive line, the 5'10", 205 pound native of Egg Harbor is an asset with his ability to play both guard and center. "Ernie doesn't have that much experience," says coach Kershner, "but his versatility should be very helpful on the offensive line during the season."

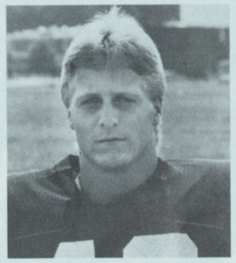
DAVE WIRTH



TERRY McGOVERN

DAVE WIRTH
Offensive Guard

Considered to be one of the top offensive linemen ever at GSC, the 6-4, 240-pound veteran from Pennsauken will be the offensive team captain this season. Named to All-Conference, All-ECAC and All-Academic teams as a guard last season, Wirth's strength and speed have attracted a great deal of interest by professional scouts. "Dave is just an outstanding football player in all phases of the game," says coach Kershner. "His ability and leadership will be a real asset to our squad this year."

TERRY MC GOVERN
Wide Receiver

This 5-10, 180 pound receiver from Collingswood set single-season reception and yardage records for GSC last season, and he earned All-Conference honors while ranking among the top Division III receivers in the country. His ability to catch the ball in a crowd provides the Profs with a potent offensive weapon. "Terry is just an outstanding wide receiver, one of the best in GSC history," says coach Kershner. "He presently holds quite a few pass receiving records, and he should hold more by the end of the season."

BILL MC NISH
Defensive Tackle

This season's defensive captain, McNish was an All-Conference performer last season despite missing action due to a leg injury. Back to anchor the defensive line at 6-5, 260 pounds, the senior standout from Kearny is taking aim on a possible professional football stint. "Bill has excellent size and excellent moves and ability," says coach Kershner. "He's an outstanding individual and player who will be an important factor in our season."

HOWARD LIDDLE
Defensive Back

A starter most of last season, this experienced defensive back and free safety will be counted on to provide leadership in the secondary this season. The 5-9, 170 pound Liddle is from nearby Sewell. "Howard comes up well, plays the run well," says coach Kershner. "His experience in the secondary will be one of the keys to our developing a strong pass defense."

DARYL YOUNG
Running Back

After seeing spot action last season, the versatile Young should see plenty of action at both halfback and fullback for the Profs in 1983. At 5-10, 185 pounds, the senior from Millville has great speed and agility. "We'll be counting on him for a lot of yards this season."

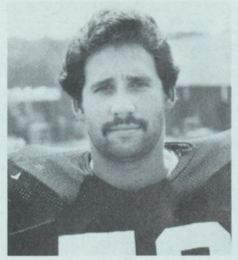
CHRIS LAW



VINCE VINCIGUERRA

CHRIS LAW
Center

Using a year of eligibility remaining because of being injured during his sophomore year, veteran center Law returns to help the Profs while finishing up his studies during the first semester. At 6-0, 200 pounds, the hard-working, dependable player from Collingswood brings experience to a crucial position. "Chris has done an excellent job for us the past two years," coach Kershner says, "and we're very pleased he'll be playing for us this year."

VINCE VINCIGUERRA
Offensive Line

Although considered a strong offensive lineman by the Profs coaching staff, Vince may see action on the defensive line to remedy some problems if the need arises this season. At 6-2, 225 pounds, the Penns Grove native has the quickness to play several positions. "Vince is a hard-nosed football player," coach Kershner says, "and he'll do the job whether it's on offense or defense."

MARK MESSNER
Defensive Line

With strength and quickness, this veteran starter gives the Profs power at the middle guard spot. A 6-0, 220 pounder from Waldwick, Messner is a good student who has proven to be a team leader both on and off the field. "Mark is an excellent defensive lineman," says coach Kershner, "and he'll help anchor our defensive line with his aggressive play."

KEVIN CRICHTON
Offensive Guard

One of the reasons the Profs are looking for a strong offensive showing this season is the 6-1, 220 pound Crichton, a native of Manalapan. Returning to the left guard position, Kevin's strength and quickness make him an excellent blocker for both the running and passing game. "We're counting on Kevin to give us outstanding play at guard," head coach Kershner says. "He provides the team with leadership, and we feel he's one of the best guards in the league."

Academic All-America

A Very Cherished Award

Since young men began competing in athletic endeavors, our society has developed selection processes that seek out those who have excelled. Individual awards and recognition for an athlete's performance on the field of competition long have been a valued part of collegiate athletics. All-America, all-region and all-league honors are things to which each athlete on the field today aspires.

Over the years, there has been a growing interest on the part of the nation's athletic administrators to recognize and reward those college students who truly represent the term "student-athlete" in every proper sense. There has been a growing awareness to recognize those individuals who have demonstrated excellence both on the field of competition and in the classroom. To be labeled an academic all-America rightfully has come to represent the epitome of achievement for today's collegiate athlete.

The term academic all-America was used first in 1954 when the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) decided at its annual meeting in Chicago to establish a national program that would select worthy football players who had distinguished themselves in the classroom as well as on the field. As time went on, CoSIDA added similar programs in basketball and baseball.

In the mid-1970s, women's basketball was added to the program. In 1982, the first women's academic all-America team in volleyball was selected. The first women's softball team was selected this past spring.

In addition, CoSIDA established academic at-large programs for men and women at its 1982 national convention in Dallas. Those programs enable student-athletes not included in one of the other specific sports to earn academic all-America kudos.

"We are ecstatic about the continued growth and awareness of the academic all-America program," said Howard Davis, sports information director at Massachusetts and immediate past president of CoSIDA. "We in CoSIDA long have recognized the selection of these teams as a top organizational project."

John Toner, president of the NCAA, which joined CoSIDA in 1980 in its effort to select and recognize outstanding student-athletes, echoed Davis' feelings.

"The student-athlete concept long has been in the forefront of this Association's reason for existence," said Toner. "The Association is pleased to provide the financial assistance necessary to spotlight outstanding individuals who not only have demonstrated excellence in a sport but in the classroom as well."

As befits such an award, the selection process is demanding. CoSIDA has divided the nation into eight geographic districts. Each district has an academic all-America coordinator who stays in touch with the sports information directors in the area. To be nominated for academic all-America honors, a student-athlete must have at least a 3.20 grade-point average (on a 4.00 scale) during the previous academic year. Student-athletes must have been in residence at their current institution for at least one year and must be a starter or key reserve.

Sports information directors mail their nominations to the district coordinator for inclusion on the university or college division ballots. Updated biographic data (academic and athletic) also are included. The coordinator takes these nominations, prepares a district voting ballot, mails the ballot to sports information directors in that district and then calculates the votes when they are returned. Members of the district academic team then become eligible for the national ballot.

The district coordinator sends those results and further updated biographic data of the individuals to a national chair. The results of the eight district teams are used to compile a national voting ballot and sent to the CoSIDA membership, which numbers more than 1,000. They are instructed to vote for a certain number of individuals, depending on the team, and to return the voting ballot to their respective district coordinator. Votes from each of the eight areas are tabulated and sent to the national chair, who announces the academic all-America team after final computations. It is a long and demanding process; but the results, in terms of the caliber of the teams and individuals involved, have been quite impressive.

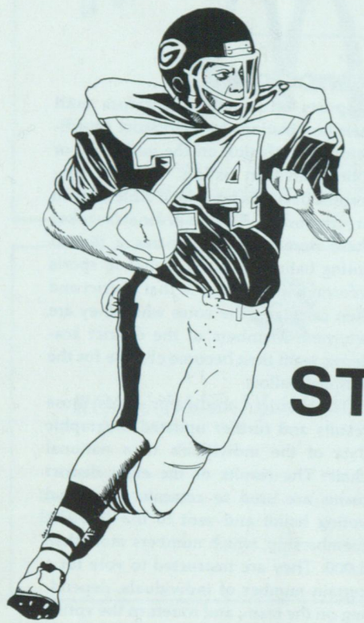
SALISBURY STATE PREVIEW



Tonight's home opener is the traditional John Green Game, played in memory of the outstanding Prof defensive back who lost his life after sustaining a serious injury in the final game of the 1977 season. Proceeds from the game go into a memorial scholarship fund.

This year Ted Kershner's Profs should display a potent offense despite the lack of a veteran quarterback. Both Jeff Beebe and local resident Chris Delia battled each other in pre-season camp and Kershner was undecided on a starter right up to the final pre-season scrimmage last week.

But three All-American candidates elsewhere in the offense should make up for any inexperience at the quarteback spot. Running back Bruce Lewandowski was a transfer who didn't play until mid-season last year but once in the lineup, promptly reeled off several 100-plus yard games. Receiver Terry McGovern rewrote almost all of GSC's single season pass catching records last year under the tutelage of receiver coach Felton Jones, the previous record holder.

This season McGovern needs three catches to break Jones' career mark of 107, 229 yards to break Jack Schneider's career record of 1,528 and six touchdown receptions to break Schneider's career mark of 12.

The third All-American candidate is guard Dave Wirth. The senior lineman was All-Conference, All-ECAC and a regional Academic All-American last year and the coaches expect him to be even better this year with added strength and experience. A co-captain, Wirth will be a key not only in opening holes for the running backs but also in providing protection for the Prof quarterback.

The Prof defense is anchored by co-captain Bill McNish along with veterans Mark Messner, Jerry Macho and Howard Liddle.

The Profs are 8-2 in total meetings with the Salisbury Seagulls but the Maryland team's wins have come in recent years as their program matured. The Profs took last year's game 17-7 but tonight's contest, like the last few, should be a fierce battle between two good football teams.

Chevrolet's M.V.P.

We're proud of our newest Most Valuable Performer–the new Corvette. The sporting analysts of the automotive world, the enthusiast magazines, are pretty impressed with it, too. Car and Driver magazine called it, "The most advanced production car on the planet."

That makes us feel pretty good at Chevrolet. Because a lot of deep thinking and hard work went into creating the new Corvette.

The dedication that went into Corvette is the same dedication demonstrated by the athletes of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. And since we know what hard work is all about, we established the Chevrolet Scholarship Program back in 1971. This awards the Most Valuable Players in NCAA football and basketball games with a donation to their respective school's general scholarship fund.

To date, over 1,800 scholarships, totaling over 1.9 million dollars, have been donated to assist men and women in furthering their educations.

At Chevrolet, we strive for excellence. That's why we support the goals of the NCAA and that's why we offer cars like our Most Valuable Performer–the new Corvette.
